The COVID-19 Pandemic is raging in the whole world with devastating effects on the life and livings of the entire humanity. It has caused huge disruptions in the social and economic systems of the society with unprecedented challenges for the medical infrastructure. This has rendered people vulnerable and without quality medical care. The whole country is united with the determination to fight this pandemic.

The University of Delhi is also putting forward its best efforts to mitigate the effects of COVID-19. Towards this end, Vaccination Camps have been organized at North Campus, South Campus and Shivaji College, efforts are being made for providing access to diagnostics (VPCI, INMAS), covid centers initiated in a couple of colleges, volunteers working to get information about available facilities and guidelines are issued regularly to sensitize people regarding safety measures to be followed in the Campus by all concerned. The University therefore, as a family desires that everybody stand in solidarity and support for each one of us. However, notwithstanding the countrywide efforts made, as individuals we also have responsibilities. It is heartening to note that the members of the University community have risen to the occasion and have followed every protocol outlined in the guidelines issued by the University and helped each other out. The fight against this disease is however, very long and requires tenacity.

As such, we need to be more vigilant and supportive of the cause and the community. Despite the concerted efforts of all, it has come to notice that few individuals after contracting COVID-19 are not informing about their own health status and that of their family members. This will not only jeopardize the health and safety of the self but also of those people who may come in close proximity to them. They are rendering themselves devoid of timely medical help and making others also vulnerable. It is therefore, requested to the individuals concerned to inform the WUHC, South Campus or the administration in case any symptom of COVID-19 becomes apparent. This may not only help in providing timely medical guidance to them but shall also assure others of their health and safety.

We wish all to stay safe and healthy.
